PREFACE

In presenting the Ninety-Sixth Annual Edition of the City of Hamilton Directory, we thank our advertisers, subscribers and the community in general for the liberal and enthusiastic support they have given us.

The number of names in the Alphabetical Directory is 143,140. There are about 57,256 wives' names (shown in parentheses) making a grand total of 200,396 names in this section of the Directory. The Street Directory shows approximately 125,380 listings including Householders, Firms, Offices, Buildings and Institutions.

The population of Hamilton is estimated to be 322,063.

The Directory includes names of many persons who are employed in the City but live outside it. For a complete Directory of neighbouring municipalities you are referred to a separate volume, the Hamilton Suburban Directory.

Hamilton - A Brief History

DUNDURN CASTLE, built in 1832 by Sir Alan MacNab who was Prime Minister of Upper Canada from 1854 to 1856. Named after his home in Scotland it was never a castle in the military sense, but nearby are located the earthworks on Burlington Heights from which British troops left to repel the invading American forces at Stoney Creek in 1813.

ONE DAY IN SEPTEMBER 1669, LaSalle, the French explorer, and a small band of adventurers entered Macassa Bay (now Hamilton Harbor) from Lake Ontario, crossed in their canoes and landed on its northern shores where they were met by a friendly band of Indians. This landing-place of LaSalle is now a natural park, which will ever bear his name. During their short stay these intrepid explorers charted this beautiful natural harbor and the surrounding countryside, and recorded the first survey of the site of Hamilton, the present industrial centre of Canada.

History tells us that LaSalle was the first white man to set foot on or near the site of the now important City of Hamilton, and though it was more than a century later before the first real settlers came and laid the foundations of the city that was to be, and now is, the name of LaSalle will always occupy a place in the city's archives.

ARRIVAL OF UNITED EMPIRE LOYALISTS

Though LaSalle had come, and seen and gone, the Indians continued in practically undisputed possession of the entire district until the United States proclaimed their independence, when there was a great influx into Canada of loyalists who wished to preserve their allegiance to their Mother Country and desired to continue to live on British soil.

The first of these settlers to arrive and locate on a 300 acre farm which is now occupied by one of Hamilton's busiest manufacturing and business districts was Robert Land, who, in 1778, erected Hamilton's first home — a log cabin that stood at the corner of Barton and Leeming Streets. At about the same time Richard Beasley opened a trading post on the site now occupied as Dundurn Park and took up some 1,000 acres of land in the present city. Others soon followed and when the first survey of the district was made in 1791 there were thirty-one families settled in the neighborhood.

ORIGIN OF THE NAME

The war of 1812 between Great Britain and the United States was responsible for the City being given the name of "Hamilton". To be beyond the range of possible conflict, George Hamilton, son of Honorable Robert Hamilton, moved westward from Niagara-on-the-Lake, and purchased a tract of property which includes the heart of Hamilton's present commercial, financial and retail district, and in the year 1813 this tract was surveyed as a town site and named "Hamilton".

Incidentally, Hamilton in the same year became a point of no small military importance, for when General Vincent, commanding the British forces retired from the Niagara frontier he took up his stand on Burlington Heights and operating from that base repelled the invading forces at the Battle of Stoney Creek in June, 1813, thus definitely determining the future of the Dominion of Canada as an important part of the British Empire. The Stoney Creek battlefield, east of the City, is still preserved as a public park, and the site where the British forces made their successful stand is marked by a suitable monument, that can be seen for miles around.

Strategically located, even in those early days, Hamilton soon gained prominence as an important trading centre. By 1840 the population had reached a total of 6,832 and during the course of that same year another bright page was added to early Canadian history, for it was then that Hamilton became a city.

FAST GROWING CITY

In terms of industrial production Hamilton ranks third among the cities of Canada. During the period 1956 to 1961 it had one of the highest growth rates of the larger Canadian cities at 14.3%. The city's population as of April, 1969 was 293,397 while the population of the metropolitan area was 457,562.

VERNON'S
CITY OF HAMILTON
Alphabetical Directory

EXPLANATION

1. The wife's name is shown in brackets following the husband's name; Smith Wm R (Mary E).

2. A widow is normally listed under her own given name, with the name of her deceased husband in brackets: Smith Mary E (wid Wm R).

3. Names between borders are those of firms which subscribe to or advertise in this City Directory. Names in light face capital letters are those of proprietors, partners or executives of these firms.

4. Business firms which are individual proprietorships or partnerships are indicated by listing the names of the owner or partners in brackets: Plaza Groceries (John B Scott, Wm Noble). Conversely, a firm name in brackets after an individual's name indicates that he is an owner or partner in the firm.

5. The householder or head of the house (owner or tenant) is indicated by h preceding the street address. Other members of the family, roomers and boarders do not have this designation. To determine whether the householder is owner or tenant, refer to the pink section, where home ownership is indicated by an asterisk (*).

6. The information in this directory has been gathered from original sources and every effort has been made to ensure its accuracy; the publishers, however, assume no responsibility for any errors.

SPECIAL ABBREVIATIONS

In the case of persons employed by firms located outside the city but in the Hamilton area, the location of the firm is designated by one of the following abbreviations:

(A) Ancaster (B) Burlington (D) Dundas

(SC) Stoney Creek (W) Waterdown
